

ABSTRACT

Cylinder head apparatus for an internal combustion engine having a cylinder and piston including a rotating shaft having a recess causing periodic communication between the cylinder and intake and exhaust passages. In other embodiments, two shafts are used, and hollow shafts with apertures are used.